

Lynn Andrews' Directory of Ministers

Carol Arone

Shaman Dolls

Lincolntonville, Maine

E-mail: Carolart@tidewater.net

www.shamandolls.com

Shaman Doll Work

My passion for creating shaman dolls began with task assignments from Lynn after Joshua Tree trainings. These tasks became an inspiration for my creating work. I have seen the process of working with intent in art to be a way of literally bringing Spirit into form. There is nothing more exciting! My work now is focused on creating sacred art, which brings an aspect of healing and transformation into the world. I also work with others, using their vision, or creating images of their dreams, guardians or helpers. This is very exciting work for me, it becomes a partnership of energies, and is always inspiring! I have been working with a new medium called Precious Metal Clay. There is a beautiful alchemy of clay like material, which transforms into pure silver or gold! It has fantastic possibilities for someone whose focus is on transformation. I am always open to helping others move through the gateways of fear and judgment that hold us back from creativity. I love working one-on-one, but can also work with groups in this way.

Credentials

Graduate, mentor and coordinator of the Continuing Education Program in the Lynn Andrews Center for Sacred Arts and Training. Ordained Minister, Spiritual Healer and Earth Steward, International Assembly of Spiritual Healers and Earth Stewards Congregations.