

Lynn Andrews' Directory of Ministers

Marlyn Miller

Minister of Sacred Arts, Spiritual Healer, Earth Steward

Salt Lake City, Utah

eMail: marlynmiller@netzero.net

Sacred Work

I have created a sacred space within my house and my office setting to facilitate my personal healing and sacred work along with the quickening of those who enter my energy field. I find that in staying conscious of my connection to humanity, while expressing feelings of compassion through normal communication, there is a magic that happens when others are afoot. My passion is to stay conscious of the truth that, how you think is how you create. I am hopeful that I will be able to inspire those who need help with that concept. I expect to ignite the flame of enthusiasm and passion for living that flickers in all of us.

Teaching and Counseling

I generally work one-on-one, but am not opposed to small groups. I work in a very informal, safe, non-judgmental, learning environment where all points of view are truly heard. I use all of the tools I have learned to use for my own personal healing. My interactions help me develop a strong understanding of the interdependent nature of my relationships and the interconnectedness of all life. I have a sense of loyalty and appreciation of others' journeys.

Healing

I am a 21st century Shaman Woman who works from the position of a Seer. Once I found my path, there is no other way. I work with the energy of Love and Compassion as I circle the truth. I am full of gratitude for my daily healing and will commit to helping others as they wish.

Credentials

I have been an entrepreneur in the Real Estate business for the past 20 years and I am the principal broker for my Sales and Management entity. I am a graduate, Lodge Chief, and Continuing Education student of the Lynn Andrews Center for Sacred Arts and Training. I am dedicated and committed to living a prayerful life with sacredness and abundance all around me.